Date Registered with the SEC: January 4, 2021
State Registrations, if applicable: N/A

Item 1. Introduction

Cardea Capital Group, Inc (“CCG”) is registered with the Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC) as an Investment Adviser.

Brokerage services and investment advisory services differ; therefore, it is important for you to understand the differences. Free and simple tools are available to research firms and financial professionals at Investor.gov/CRS, which provide educational materials about broker-dealers, investment advisors, and investing.

Item 2. Relationship and ServicesWhat investment services and advice can you provide me?

CCG’s core business is providing investment advisory and wealth management services directly to institutional and retail clients (“clients”) through Investment Advisor Representatives (“IAR”) and subsidiaries.

Client accounts are managed on a discretionary basis or nondiscretionary basis pursuant to instructions and authorization provided by the client in an Investment Management Agreement. As part of our standard services for discretionary accounts for which we do not seek further client approval, CCG monitors accounts on a quarterly basis and performs periodic rebalancing designed to keep portfolios consistent with the client’s desired asset allocation. For non-discretionary accounts, the client makes the ultimate decision regarding the purchase or sale of investments. Generally, the minimum opening value of an account is $100,000 for portfolios, although account minimums are subject to negotiation.

CCG services may include new client account opening at the custodian of the client’s choice, monitoring the funding of the account, establishing the initial investment portfolio, on-going review of the client’s portfolio(s), rebalancing, quarterly account performance and fee reporting, debiting and or invoicing of fees, transaction processing, updating client account information, answering client inquiries, web-based account access, as well as marketing & support to each IAR. CCG provides investment advice and portfolios to clients designed to meet particular investment goals. Such portfolios and advice are comprised of mutual funds, exchange traded funds (ETFs), separately managed accounts (SMAs), individual securities and alternative investments. Financial technology software is utilized to help determine clients’ specific investment objective, risk tolerance and time horizon. Using this information, CCG selects the model portfolio and other investments to invest in based on the client’s specific investment objective, risk tolerance and time horizon.

IARs of CCG have passed Series 65 or 66 examinations and may have certifications and experience in the investment management and/or financial planning industries. You should ask for a complete description of experience, certifications and examination history of your investment advisor(s). Also, you can find information on your investment advisor at: <https://adviserinfo.sec.gov/>. For additional information, click on Form ADV Part 2A.

Ask your financial advisor:

- Given my financial situation, should I choose an investment advisory service? Why or why not?
- How will you choose investments to recommend to me?
- What is your relevant experience, including your licenses, education and other qualifications? What do these qualifications mean?

Item 3. Fees, Costs, Conflicts of Interest, and Standard of ConductWhat fees will I pay?

CCG, its IARs, and subsidiaries charge client accounts an annual investment management fee, billed quarterly, based on the assets under management. So, the more assets there are in a client’s advisory account, the more a client will pay in fees, and the firm may therefore have an incentive to encourage the client to increase the assets in their account. Custodians may also charge fees such as ticket charges, wired funds, returned/cancelled checks and overnight express.

Also, additional fees such as internal management fees and expenses are charged by mutual funds, ETFs and SMAs which are disclosed in the prospectus, ADV or other disclosure materials for the investment. You will pay fees and costs whether you make or lose money on your investments. Fees and costs will reduce any amount of money you make on your investments over time. Please make sure you understand what fees and costs you are paying. For additional information, click on Form ADV Part 2A Section V.

Ask your financial advisor:

- Help me understand how these fees and costs might affect my investments. If I give you $10,000 to invest, how much will go to fees and costs, and how much will be invested for me?

What are your legal obligations to me when acting as my investment adviser?
How else does your firm make money and what conflicts of interest do you have?

When we act as your investment adviser, we have to act in your best interest and not put our interest ahead of yours. At the same time, the way we make money creates some conflicts with your interests. You should understand and ask us about these conflicts because they can affect the investment advice, we provide you. Here are some examples to help you understand what this means. CCG's investment management fees are asset-based. Thus, the more assets there are in your advisory account, the more you will pay in fees; thus, CCG may have an incentive to encourage you to increase the assets in your account.

Ask your financial advisor:

- How might your conflicts of interest affect me, and how will you address them?

How our financial professionals make money

As with CCG's management fees, our investment professionals charge an annual investment management fee, billed quarterly, based on the assets under management. As a result, there is a potential for conflicts of interest similar to those stated above. For additional information, click on Form ADV Part 2A Section V.
